VALVE TYPES

for usage under 3000 psi

CGA USE ON

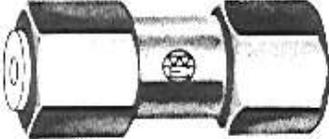

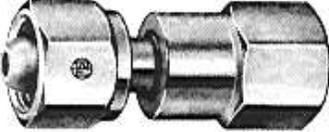

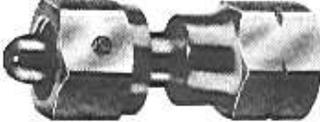

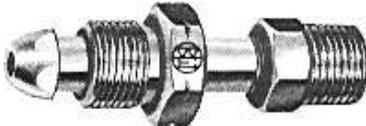

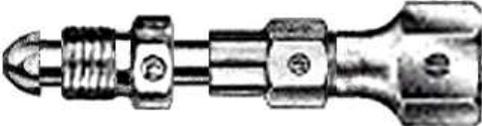

- #320 Carbon Dioxide
- #346 Air
- #540 Oxygen
- #580 Inert gases, oil free
such as: Argon, Helium,
Nitrogen, Mixes
- #590 Industrial Air,
Oil Pumped Nitrogen
and Sulfur Hexafluoride
- #680 Inert 3,000 to 5,000 PSI
(Regulator end only)

THE USE OF ADAPTORS IS NOT RECOMMENDED AS A PERMANENT INSTALLATION. IF AT ALL POSSIBLE THE PROPER REGULATOR FOR EACH GAS SHOULD BE USED ON ALL CYLINDERS AND SYSTEMS.

Adaptors are used to connect a regulator to a cylinder or other equipment where there are two different CGA threads on the mating parts making a direct connection impossible.

Adaptors must be selected with care to insure that regulators and other equipment are not used on gases that are incompatible. A mixture of non-compatible gases in any system is a possible hazard. Therefore, regulators and all other parts of an adapted system must be thoroughly purged of all contaminants, especially organic material and residual gases. Replace worn or damaged fittings immediately to insure safe and dependable operation.

OXYGEN ADAPTORS, THOUGH MANUFACTURED, ARE NOT RECOMMENDED DUE TO THE POSSIBILITY OF CONTAMINATION TO EQUIPMENT WHICH COULD CAUSE COMBUSTION UPON FUTURE USE IN OXYGEN SERVICE
